2024 US Presidential Election Dashboard

Today (Thursday, August 22) is the last day of the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, Illinois. Today is also exactly 75 days until the US Presidential election on November 5th. Since President Biden withdrew from the race on July 21, the polls have converged, both nationally and in swing states. To be sure, we expect an exceptionally close US election, especially given that: (1) many of the polling differentials are well within the polling margin of error; and (2) 75 days is a long time in Washington.
