

MUFG maintains No. 1 spot as top global lead arranger for clean-energy, energy-smart technologies' financings for third consecutive year

MUFG earned the top spot for global Lead Arranger in financing clean-energy and energy-smart technologies. The ranking, released as part of Bloomberg's 2018 New Energy Finance league table, places MUFG as No. 1 among private sector banks for the third consecutive year.

One of the world's leading financial institutions, MUFG has a strong history as a Lead Arranger among private sector banks, claiming the top spot in the Bloomberg rankings for seven of the past nine years and leading all lenders (public and private) in 2013. In 2018, MUFG financed 59 projects for a total of $3.94 billion in credits and a market share of 5.78%, the Bloomberg results indicate.

In the Americas, more than 50% of MUFG's total project finance lending in the power sector is dedicated to renewable energy projects.

"We take great pride in the strong foundation that we have built as a global leader in the renewables finance space," said Erik Codrington, Head of MUFG's Structured Finance group for the Americas. "Our clients' ambitions toward a more sustainable future only continue to grow, and we're equipped and ready to keep working to move that vision forward."

According to Bloomberg, MUFG played a role in six of the 2018's top 10 global renewable deals.
